

Making Family Councils More Effective

October 12-15, 2021

A 4-day, Interactive Workshop on Family Governance for Tomorrow's World

In a series of live, online sessions over four days, Family Council leaders and members from family enterprises across the world gather to explore how Family Councils can add strategic value in today's disruptive world.

We have entered a new age for enterprising families - A new age that calls for Family Councils to elevate their support of the family and its enterprise. It is time for Family Councils to take an active, strategic role in preparing the family for the bold moves that will keep the family and its enterprise adaptive and successful in the New Economy and New Society.

In today's complex world, family governance is more needed than ever but must adapt to stay effective.

How does a Family Council pivotally help the family to stay united and decisive, build key talent, and support its enterprise?

How do Family Councils need to adapt to add strategic value in today's disruptive world?

Join us for an advanced program for mature Family Councils to explore how to elevate the Family Council's strategic support of the family and its enterprise, and prepare the family for tomorrow's world.

Active participation is required. Sessions include live, interactive presentations by faculty, daily working sessions in small workgroups, self-reflection and analysis of your own Family Council, and active dialogue and support among participants and faculty.

- Discover how families and family enterprises are changing in today's world and the latest trends for Family Councils to meet the future needs of modern families
- Learn the role of family governance in supporting long-term family success in today's disruptive world, and how to initiate and support change in the family and family enterprise
- Explore how to create a Family Council strategy for 2021 and beyond, even when the future is less predictable

2. Create a tangible plan to revitalize their Family Council

- Learn ways to revitalize an existing Family Council, elevate the role and status of the Family Council, and interconnect it with other governance forums
- Assess their current family governance activities, identify goals and current roadblocks, and create a tangible plan for their Family Council to put into action after the program
- Strengthen the capabilities of the Family Council leader and members to build a strategic Family Council
- Reflect on how to compose, organize, and run the Family Council in these times of short attention spans and geographic dispersion

3. Exchange with other Family Councils from around the world on strategies and practices that work for complex family enterprises.

- This unique program is discussion-based and problem-solving focused with abundant exchange, mutual support, and interactive breakout discussions among participants and faculty.

“An excellent course with a great mix between lectures, invited speakers and interaction with other families. Also, it was the most organized interactive online event I've participated in so far!”
